UIL/GATORADE STATE SPORTSMANSHIP CHAMPIONS

The UIL/Gatorade State Sportsmanship Championship is sponsored by the UIL and Gatorade, each champion will receive $1,000, a banner and a trophy. These schools represent the essence of extracurricular activities in Texas,” said UIL Athletic Director Charles Breithaupt. “The objective of the UIL is to provide competitive activities that foster a spirit of good will. These schools have exhibited the best of qualities that we hope to see in every high school. We are proud of the administrators, coaches, sponsors, students and fans of these schools and communities.” For the second consecutive year, schools are being formally recognized and rewarded statewide for displaying and promoting good sportsmanship. One school from each district was nominated based on their display of sportsmanship in all activities during the 1997-98 school year. District nominees were submitted to the UIL, where a committee chose one school in each conference to receive the state sportsmanship award.

“For Gatorade, sports is about more than just who won the game. Sports is about the love of competing and the sweat that proves you’ve given it all you have,” said Suzanne Sutton, Southwest regional marketing manager for Gatorade. “We salute the UIL/Gatorade State Sportsmanship Champions, as they truly represent the best quality of high school sports in Texas.”

The University Interscholastic League ...

Purpose

The purpose of the UIL is to organize and properly supervise contests that assist in preparing students for citizenship. It aims to provide healthy, character building, educational activities carried out under rules providing for good sportsmanship and fair play for all participants.

Sensible organized competition under proper controls has demonstrated its value and has furnished inspiration to talented students for many years. Roy Bedichek, UIL Director from 1921–1948, once said, "School and community opinion should be so conditioned that every interschool contest dramatizes not only the reign of law but the reign of a higher law giving the Spirit of the rules precedence over the Letter, thus establishing a jurisdiction in which Conscience is the court of final appeal, empowered to confer the ultimate and most highly valued awards." The UIL does not provide a contest for every student, but does fill the need for those with the physical and intellectual capacity to excel in activities beyond the classroom. The UIL has the active support of most school administrators, teachers, and citizens in Texas.

Services

The UIL is a non-profit service organization that provides a wide variety of activities and programs. The UIL:

- Provides students with educational experiences through competition.
- Promotes good sportsmanship and cooperation among member schools.
- Publishes a monthly newspaper called The Leaguer, mailed to all member schools, UIL adjudicators and officials, and interested Texas news media.
- Works closely with associations to provide better officiating and adjudication for UIL contests.
- Sponsors regional conferences and clinics for athletic, music, drama, student press, and academic contests.
- Provides materials to member schools for use in UIL activities.
- Seeks to safeguard the health and welfare of students by requiring physical examinations for participation in athletics.
- Sponsors district, regional, and state tournaments or meets in athletic, music, drama, journalism, and academic contests.
- Provides drama teachers with an extensive Drama Loan Library of more than 26,000 plays.
- Sponsors the Interscholastic League Press Conference, an organization dedicated to the development of a responsible, mature, student press.
- Administers the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation, a scholarship program for academic state competitors.
- Sponsors the UIL – Southwestern Bell Award, honoring outstanding UIL program sponsors, coaches and directors.

History

The University Interscholastic League was created by The University of Texas at Austin to provide leadership and guidance to public school debate and athletic teachers. In 1909, with the approval of the Board of Regents, Dr. S.E. Mezes, president of the University of Texas, organized and formed the Extension Bureau. He also appointed Professor Charles Ramsdell to investigate the need for a high school athletic organization. After talking with public school officials, Professor Ramsdell suggested organizing an Interscholastic Athletic Association. The proposal was approved and the UIL's two parent organizations - the Debate League of Texas and the Interscholastic Athletic Association - became operational.

In 1913, the Debating League and Athletic Association merged to form the University Interscholastic League, which was centered in the Bureau of Public School Services, then a part of The University of Texas Extension Division. Today, the UIL operates under the jurisdiction of the Vice-President for Administration at the University of Texas at Austin.

The UIL has grown into the largest interschool organization of its kind in the world, and is the envy of similar groups nationwide. The voluntary membership, non-profit organization exists to provide educational extracurricular academic, athletic, and music contests. The initials "UIL" have come to represent quality educational competition administered by school people on an amateur and equitable basis.

Making a world of difference ...

The largest

One out of every two high school seniors participates in a UIL contest prior to graduation.

Each year, almost two million students in grades two through twelve participate in one or more of the 36 literary and academic, five major music, and twelve athletic contest areas. Not only is the UIL the oldest state high school association of its kind in the world, it currently serves a larger geographic area, schedules a greater variety of contests, holds more meets, and enjoys a greater school membership than any similar organization in existence.

Under UIL direction, Texas fields more high school baseball, football, basketball, and track teams than any other state, and is second nationwide in volleyball team participation.

The UIL also conducts the largest competitive drama program in the world and sponsors the Interscholastic League Press Conference, the nation's largest state high school journalism association.

Best of all, participation in extracurricular activities is an educational bargain. In virtually every case, UIL activities account for less than one percent of each member school's budget. This includes equipment, supplies, transportation, coaches salaries and a portion of the utility bills. Fifty percent of the students at one percent of the budget! It is the best bargain in public education today.

The finest

The UIL's Prescribed Music List is used by more than 30 states as well as seven foreign nations.

In addition, its calculator applications and number sense contests have been studied and emulated worldwide, just as virtually every UIL contest has been used as the standard by which excellence is judged. While many states provide only athletic competition, the UIL offers the most comprehensive literary and academic program in the nation. Contests range from current issues and events to poetry interpretation, from headline writing to number sense. And each year, outside groups ask the UIL to sponsor their contests, so they may take advantage of UIL structure and guidance.

Because the UIL has maintained a close relationship with The University of Texas at Austin and other host colleges and universities, public schools have enjoyed the expertise of many of the nation's finest educators, who serve as contest directors and judges. Also, public schools have access to outstanding classroom and athletic facilities at nominal costs.

Finally, the UIL developed and administers the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation. Since its inception in 1954, TILF has awarded more than $11 million in college scholarships to approximately 10,000 UIL State academic meet participants. The TILF is a program unique to Texas and the UIL. See page four for a list of donors.

The strongest

Rules are made by school people, who best understand the nature of educational competition.

Contests could not exist without rules. And UIL rules are adopted and altered by public school administrators, whose responsibility is to the overall educational program of the local school district rather than individual contests. The superintendent ensures that contests remain strictly amateur and educational.

The purpose of UIL contests is to provide healthful, character-building experiences that teach lessons in sportsmanship, teamwork and individual responsibility. Participation is its own reward. Students learn humility in victory, grace in defeat.

Administrators actively seek input from coaches, teachers, contest sponsors, educational association officials, school board members, parents and the public before voting in a democratic manner for the rules by which all students compete. Once adopted, rules are monitored closely by administrators. It is good to remember that school people are more aware of societal changes than the average person because they deal with students on a daily basis - and no group more accurately reflects changes in society than do teenagers.

The strength of the UIL is its commitment to grass roots control; by school officials, whose sole concern is the development of the total student. The educational competitions and activities facilitated by the UIL are a crucial part of that development.

Academics

The University Interscholastic League offers the most comprehensive academic competitive program in the nation. It offers more types of competition than any other UIL Division, with 36 individual activities. More than a half million students participate in UIL academic contests.

These activities complement the academic curriculum. They are designed to motivate students as they acquire knowledge, to challenge students to confront important issues, and to provide students with opportunities to demonstrate mastery of specific skills. They are offered at the elementary, junior high and high school level. Many primary schools use their activities as accelerated programs for high achievers.

The UIL provides study packets for each activity, handbooks developed by experts in respective fields, instructional videotapes and conferences which offer enrichment and instruction. The journey to state competition introduces contestants to the campuses of some 18 colleges and universities statewide through district and regional contests.

The League's One-Act Play competition is the largest play production contest or play festival in the world. This activity is supported by over 200 college and university faculty serving as critic judges, 50 colleges and universities providing site facilities and 150 school administrators providing facilities and serving as contest managers. The One-Act Play competition is an integral component of the educational theatre curriculum, and is considered by historians to be the foundation of the educational and community theatre programs in Texas.

Also under the auspices of the UIL is the Interscholastic League Press Conference, an association of junior high and high school newspaper and yearbook staffs. One of the largest state high school press associations, ILPC coordinates summer workshops, a spring convention and numerous special-interest seminars.

Athletics

The UIL Athletic Division is based on the premise that students are students first, and athletic participation is a privilege. In addition to learning teamwork and group responsibility, these students obtain skills essential for strong citizenship and leadership. Those students participating in athletics tend to make better grades than students who are not participating in any other school activity.

The Division fields more high school baseball, football, basketball and track & field teams than any other state, and is second highest in volleyball. This Division is the largest within the UIL in terms of attendance. Its 19 activities include almost a million participants at the junior high and high school levels in the state.

The Athletic Division also draws the majority of the UIL's media coverage. Football is currently broadcast over network television in all 19 Texas media markets, as well as a delayed broadcast on ESPN. Boys' basketball and baseball are very likely to follow. These three activities are also carried on statewide radio, along with girls' basketball, volleyball, soccer, and track & field. The remaining athletic activities often receive radio coverage at the local level.

Music

The UIL Music Division is the envy of the nation. Its purpose is to provide statewide music competitions that enhance the many roles music plays in our society. It encompasses 10 activities and includes 356,682 participants in junior high and high school. Because of the department's first class reputation, music activities often receive media coverage on public access television.

The UIL's Music competitions are unique among League activities, inasmuch as they do not determine a state champion in most contests. Student musicians who participate in these contests are critiqued and rated against an accepted set of performance standards, rather than in "head to head" competition. Adjudication is performed by professional musicians and music educators who are recognized throughout the nation for their musical expertise.

The Music Division also produces and distributes The Prescribed Music List. This document, which specifies the graded repertoire used for all music contests in Texas, is developed and continuously refined by the UIL. It is also used by more than 30 other states and seven foreign nations as a guide for music competition.

$13.2 million

■ That's how much the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation has given since 1954 to approximately 11,600 Texas high school students who have competed in the UIL's state academic meet. This year alone, the TILF is awarding more than $930,000 in scholarships to 588 students.

■ The UIL administration, the UIL member schools' administrators, coaches, sponsors, directors and especially the students and their parents say THANK YOU to all the donors to this program. The TILF has over $5 MILLION in endowed funds and receives direct scholarship grants each year for more than $660,000 from foundations throughout the state. These grants have proven decisive in many student's educational careers. Many students would not or could not have attended the college or university of their choice without the financial assistance TILF provides.

UIL – SOUTHWESTERN BELL AWARD

The Southwestern Bell – UIL Sponsor Excellence Award seeks to highlight the contribution of sponsors to UIL scholastic competition. The award was created to identify and recognize outstanding sponsors who assist students in developing and refining their extracurricular talents to the highest degree possible within the educational system while helping them to keep their personal worth separate from their success or failure in competition.

Each year, the award honors 15 University Interscholastic League (UIL) sponsors in extracurricular activities. A panel of judges chose the 15 winners from a field of approximately 100 nominees submitted by school principals and superintendents from across the state. The winners received $1,000 each from the UIL.

These awards were originally made possible by a grant from the Effie and Wofford Cain Foundation and UIL corporate funds.

1999–2000 Winners

• Alan Barkemeyer

Rosebud-Lott High School

Barkemeyer has been involved in UIL academic competition for 19 years. Since 1991, his students have won 41 state medals, and his accounting students have won seven straight individual state titles. He has qualified someone for state in every UIL event he has coached, which includes: Accounting, Keyboarding/Typewriting, Computer Applications and Shorthand. "Students who compete in (UIL) events develop the ability to think logically, independently and creatively to a much higher degree than do non-competitors," Barkemeyer said. "I try to teach my students that the competition itself is the most important part of the total UIL experience. Winning and losing is not as important in the long run as the preparation and anticipation that comes from the competition."

According to his superintendent, Barkemeyer is an excellent role model. "In a day and age where role models are hard to come by, Mr. Barkemeyer exemplifies hard work, dedication, selflessness and integrity," said Keith Boles, superintendent of Rosebud-Lott School District. "These are the same qualities that our school district would like to inspire in all students."

• Brenda L. Beebe

Vernon High School

For the past 20 years, Beebe has sponsored such UIL events as prose interpretation, poetry interpretation, informative speaking, persuasive speaking, C-X debate, LD debate, current issues and events and one-act play. In that time, she has been instrumental in the school winning the District championship for the past 14 years, and her students won the state championship in 1991. She has had two state champion LD debaters, two state champion prose interpreters and one persuasive speaking champ. She has also advanced two one-act plays to state competition. "Competition teaches not only sportsmanship and fairness, but it allows me the opportunity to teach life skills," Beebe said. "I have the opportunity to instill the need to 'tip' a waiter or to hold a door for a friend. Competition teaches young lives accomplishment and success in all they attempt."

Her principal sees a fighting spirit in Beebe. "Competitors come in all shapes and sizes. (Beebe) doesn't fit the mold of a 6 foot 4 inch football coach," Kenny Railsback explained. "She will beat you with her hard work, long hours, attention to detail, and love for her profession and her students. She will win honestly, demonstrating good sportsmanship and class."

• Dennis Cabaniss

Salado High School

In the eight years Cabaniss has taught at Salado High School, he has sponsored three state champion math teams, three state champion number sense teams and, as UIL coordinator, one state academic championship. "I believe in competition as an integrated part of a school's basic education mission," Cabaniss said. "I see it as a vehicle that drives students to levels of mental and physical fitness, which might not otherwise be reached. The essence of competition lies in the improvement that results from practice and in the experience of measuring oneself against one's own potential and the skill of another individual."

His principal, Mr. Marvin Agnew, sees the value of teachers such as Cabaniss. "His work ethic and character are positive influences on the school and community, and has been for years," he said. "A by-product of our UIL math program is a large portion of our students take the most challenging of math courses in high school, which resulted in 23 members (out of 75) of the class of 2000 scoring over 500 on the SAT math test."

• Timothy Marshall Cook

Lago Vista High School

For the past eight years, Cook has directed the forensics program at Lago Vista High School, including CX debate, LD debate, persuasive speaking, informative speaking, prose, poetry, current issues and events, ready writing, journalism and accounting. He has presented at Student Activity Conferences as well as the UIL Summer Academic Coordinators Workshop. He, too, has served on the National Federation Topic Selection committee. He has also coached a state meet academic champion. "It is the goal of all educators to develop a student's self-discipline, character and accomplishments," he said. "A teacher hopes to shape the beliefs of their students so they become constructive members of society."

The principal of Lago Vista High School, Dr. Jerome Stewart, sees a lot of good qualities in Cook. "Mr. Cook serves as a catalyst for all our academic UIL endeavors. Without him, UIL would not exist at Lago Vista," he said. "(Mr. Cook) demonstrates professional integrity every step of the way."

• Cindy Couch

Austin Westlake High School

In her 22 years of teaching vocal music, Couch has shown leadership in several areas. She has served as an adjudicator for the state level UIL solo contest and regularly judges UIL Regional Concert and Sight Reading contests. In addition, she led the UIL Regional Concert/Sight reading for 12 years and initiated a district-wide choral festival in the Eanes school district. She, too, serves on TMEA's Regional vocal chair. For the past 10 years, the Westlake High School choir has earned Sweepstakes ratings. Couch had similar ratings at Westwood High School and Austin Stephen F. Austin High School before going to Westlake. "My students feel that UIL and other contests are an opportunity to display their training, love of music and high level of literature," she said. "They enjoy the competition for this reason."

A lasting program is proof of a good teacher, according to her principal. "When someone's program is this good for this long, it is not an accident," Westlake principal Chris Hines said. "When I visit her classroom at lunch there are students who just come to the choir area because that is where they want to be. What you do not hear about is all the young adults who have left this (program) better citizens, better people, for having been a part of something that strives for excellence."

• Jose E. Cuellar

Santa Rosa High School

Cuellar, who coaches Number Sense, Calculator Applications and Mathematics, spends most of his Saturdays on the road taking students to over 20 invitational meets each year. He has taken students to state seven of the last eight years, and last year his Number Sense team won the state championship, earning the highest score in all conferences, 1A-5A. "Our students have learned a tremendous amount of mathematics through UIL competition," he said. "Being UIL competitors, students are challenged and energized by competition. They develop confidence and improve their self-esteem. The UIL competition is a strong motivational tool that greatly enhances their education."

His superintendent, Dr. Roberto Rodriguez, sees a lot of good qualities in Cuellar. "Because he has a vision for his students, he has the tenacity to get the job done," he said. "Because he is dedicated, it is a pleasure to work with him. Because he is so focused, he is a great person to know."

• Larry W. Cure

Arlington Martin High School

The mainstay one-act play director and theatre teacher at Arlington Martin High School, Cure was there when the school opened in 1982 and has seen the department grow from about 60 students in the beginning to over 400 now. His one-act plays have advanced to state six of the last 10 years. In 1996 and 1998 his plays won the state championship and in 1990 and 1999 they received first runner-up at state. He, too, has Important dates in UIL history ...

1984 – First Team Tennis champions (Klein - 5A, San Antonio Alamo Heights - 4A); First State Marching Band champions (Asherton - 1A, Dripping Springs - 2A, Waco Robinson - 3A, Georgetown - 4A, SA MacArthur - 5A); 75th anniversary of the UIL.

1991 – First Academic Sweepstakes champions (Clear Lake - 5A, Gregory-Portland - 4A, Vernon - 3A, Lytle - 2A, San Isidro - 1A).

1993 – First Softball champion (Pasadena Dobie).

1998 – Completion of new UIL office building in Austin.

1999 – First Wrestling champions (boys-Dallas Highland Park; Girls-Arlington Houston)

created several original "cause plays" that have been put on by his students. These plays have raised over $10,000 and those funds were donated to various local charitable organizations including The Arlington Women's Shelter, Mission Arlington, The AIDS Foundation of Tarrant County and the American Red Cross. "It is important that my students be more interested in the 'process' than the 'product,'" he said. "The aspect of winning or losing a contest has never been part of the equation for success. Trophies will sit in a trophy case as they brown with tarnish and gather dust, but a passion and zest for learning will last forever."

His principal sees Cure as an advocate for his students. "To each of his students, he gives the greatest gift that anyone can give — that of believing strongly in the worth of each student," John Jacoby said. "In all his activities, he is never willing to ask anyone to do more than he is willing to do himself."

• Joseph Grzybowski
Hurst Bell High School

For the past 14 years, Grzybowski has led the band program at L. D. Bell High School. In that time, his bands have placed first in a vast majority of contests. He has taken his marching band to state the last two years 5A was eligible to compete at state. His symphony band has earned straight first division ratings for the past five years as well as 10 years of sweepstakes ratings. "Competition has allowed my students to view many fine ensembles and gain insight into their personal level of achievement," he said. "Everyone has benefitted as these young people have worked together toward a common goal of setting a high standard of excellence and testing their final efforts in the field of competition."

That enthusiasm has filtered into the principal's office. "Joseph Grzybowski has given new meaning to the term 'high school band program,'" principal Don Brown said. "Mr. G. has transformed a good band program into a state and nationally recognized band of excellence. It is a great blend of support and fun on one side and work and high expectation on the other that make for a great program."

• Missey Head
Odessa Permian High School

Head has rebuilt drama programs at five different campuses for the past 16 years. She coaches one-act play, poetry, prose, informative speaking and persuasive speaking. While at Permian High School, her students in one-act play have won over 200 different awards. In addition, Head has created a "Study Buddy" program in which she puts students in her department who are failing a class with students who are successful in that class. "I believe that with appropriate guidance all students can be motivated to succeed and also to excel," she said. "I love my discipline, and I love teaching. I will faithfully continue my pursuit to improve my art, my students and myself."

Her principal feels she is deserving of this award. "Missey has to be one of the most dedicated individuals I have ever been around in my 18 years in education," Brian Rosson said. "She literally puts her heart and soul into her profession. Ultimately, the highest compliment anyone in education can have is the respect and admiration one receives from students. Missey Head has that respect from past and current students."

• Linda Major
Leander High School

For the past 18 years, Major has devoted her life to the drama department at Leander High School. She coaches one-act play, debate, prose, spelling and informative speaking. She takes her one-act play cast each year to a cabin for a weekend retreat so they can practice their play in many different ways and develop mutual support and a feeling of caring and closeness. Members of the cast stay up all night working on activities that enable them to trust each other enough to make the play a truly "team" effort. Several of her former students have gone on to become professional actors in New York. In 1993, her one-act play advanced to the state competition. "To work together to strive for perfection defines UIL competition and education," she said. "Although my students may forget the lines of Othello, they will not forget the late nights of rehearsals, the sacrifices of time and personal recognition, and the wonderful feeling of being a part of something greater than any one person."

Her principal sees a love of teaching in her. "She possesses a genuine love of teaching and an undying compassion for students," Mark Kincaid said. "Her ability to recognize and use students' talents is without parallel."

• Tanya Nygrin
Round Top-Carmine High School

Nygrin has spent the past 13 years coaching volleyball, basketball, track, cross-country, tennis and golf. She has taken her volleyball teams to state eight times, basketball one time, cross country one time and track almost every year she has coached, even though Round Top-Carmine has no track facility. "Competition is not about winning or losing. Competition is about all of those other things that help to develop a young person into a productive adult in our society," Nygrin said. "The idea of competition is defined not only on the playing field, but even more in the classroom and in the lives of the athletes outside of school. Life is a tough teacher and the playing field will only get tougher and we have to train our students to meet those challenges and give them the tools necessary to be successful."

Her principal sees dedication in Nygrin. "Tanya has dedicated her life to do whatever it takes to make her students and athletes the best they can be," Mark Conley said. "Coach Nygrin expects her athletes to be loyal in her beliefs and to their chosen sport of participation. She continuously molds and shapes the lives of these young girls into mature ladies giving them the direction of being strong, independent and successful individuals."

• Dennis Pitcock
Brownsville Hanna High School

Pitcock, who has taught 13 years, the last five in Hanna, has had students win more than 100 first division medals at UIL Solo/Ensemble contests in just two years (1998-99), brought home UIL Sweepstakes trophies for the Varsity Mixed, Treble and Men's Choirs (1998-99) and had five All-State Choir students in 1999 alone and 16 others from 1992-98. He has served as a TMEA Area Chair, Region Chair, Region Vice-Chair, and has served as a clinician and adjudicator throughout the state. "I believe all students are winners. I believe that competition, when put in the right perspective, is a healthy and tangible means of evaluation for our students," he said. "Winning at competitive events does not always result in the usual rewards of trophies, medals and ribbons. The student who sings a solo for the first time, with knees shaking and teeth rattling, has 'won' just by performing — by facing the feat and overcoming obstacles."

His principal, though only being at Hanna High School two years, has already seen Pitcock's different talents. "Dennis' students come to him with a wide variety of abilities, but he is able to diagnose and prescribe activities that enable each student to acquire the skills needed to be a purposeful member of the group," Sharon Moore said. "The self-confidence those students possess after succeeding in the choral program under Mr. Pitcock serves them well for a lifetime."

• Michael Sneed
Grapevine High School

Sneed has coached football 27 years, baseball 15 years, basketball six years and track five years. In addition, he serves as the Grapevine ISD Athletic Director. Teams he has coached have won two state football championships and has led both football and baseball teams to several district titles even though the baseball team had no facilities on campus. "I believe that all children are students first and athletes second, but both are of equal importance in the competitive world we live in," he said. "Many lessons are learned in athletics besides just winning and losing. Lessons of hard work, work ethic, teamwork, self-discipline and caring for others are some of those. Coaches must help develop the personal skills of young people so they can deal with those things on and off the field."

His principal, Dana Drew, has seen Sneed's leadership. "He has a unique way of instilling inspiration and dedication in his players. He is willing to go the 'extra mile' for his students and receives the same in return," the principal said. "Mike believes that his players should be students first and athletes second, and he expects the same of his coaching staff."

• Barbara Tatum
Burleson High School

Tatum has been sponsoring all journalism activities at Burleson High School since 1981, and, as UIL Academic Coordinator, has led the school to three district academic titles the past four years. When she took over the department in 1981 the journalism department was virtually non-existent. Since then she has moved from having one typewriter, a light table and a bunch of quad paks to preparing camera-ready copy on computers using the latest desktop publishing software. "My most important function is using journalism, and consequently UIL competition, to teach students about themselves," she said. "By participating (in UIL), specifically in journalism events, students hone their critical and creative thinking skills through the opportunities the contests offer to reconstruct and evaluate information. They also learn to read for information, critical analysis and personal response."

Richard Crummel, principal of Burleson High School, has seen the passion Tatum has about journalism and teaching. "Students only know that you care when you demonstrate it through your actions, not just words," he said. "Students learn devotion, responsibility, team work and time management. All of us in education understand the weekend devotion needed by journalism teachers and students. The end result is a non-threatening environment where student participation is high and projects are completed. Just like in the real world people produce quality work when it is demanded, modeled and in the end celebrated."

• Tommy Thomas
Lewisville The Colony High School

Thomas has coached basketball 15 years, the last 12 years at The Colony High School. He has led his team to two regional finalists and eight playoff appearances. In addition, he has been named "District Coach of the Year" four times and was the 93-94 "Metroplex Coach of the Year." "The values and lessons taught by competition are immeasurable," Thomas said. "Sports develop and enhance such skills as respect for others, self-discipline and teamwork. Such traits are lessons often transferred to the classroom in both individual instruction and cooperative learning. As a coach, there is nothing more satisfying than to see your hard work in practice be executed on the court, to compete at the highest level and be successful."

His principal sees the many qualities Thomas has. "I have found Coach Thomas to be much more than a basketball coach," Bobby Watkins said. "He makes every effort to serve the young men on his team, not only as coach, but as a mentor. Tommy is highly dedicated to his profession and to his players."

Major Stockholder in Prep Record Book

Dave Clyde, who pitched for Houston Westchester in the early 1970's was a prep phenomenon. He was once listed in 14 separate categories in the National High School Sports Record Book and his name still permeates the pitching categories. Clyde is listed among the pitching leaders in 10 categories and heads the national listing in five departments. His 842 career strikeouts are 113 ahead of No. 2 Allen Rath of Riverside Highland, IA, and he is the only hurler in prep history to register more than 300 strikeouts in a season. Clyde's true dominance is shown in the number of times he is repeated. His 327 and 251 strikeout totals from 1973 and 1972, respectively, rank first and eighth in the seasonal strikeout category. No less than 43 times did Clyde strike out 10 or more batters in the 61 games he started. Only four times over the last two years of his career did he allow five or more hits.
